Build and execute your ESG & Sustainability strategy with a cloud-based fully integrated platform

More than ever, consumers, employees, and investors are making their decisions based on trust. They want to buy from, work for, and invest in businesses that demonstrate positive impact on people and the planet, in ways that everyone can understand and verify. The OneTrust ESG & Sustainability Cloud offers you the ability to define your core environmental and sustainability metrics, track your progress towards your goals, and foster trust with key stakeholders through enhanced transparency.

With trust driving consumer, investor, and employee behavior more than ever before, it is also about having the right environmental policies, employee equality practices, and the methods to manage them that these key stakeholders are looking for. ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) reporting practices are expanding into every industry and every part of the world as corporate initiatives around climate change, gender and race equality, and more are prioritized by global organizations. The governance of these initiatives can vary greatly, with regulations and standards in most countries around environmental issues like fossil fuel and renewable resource use, waste management, and freshwater use. Additionally, there are numerous NGO reporting frameworks like SASB, GRI, and TCFD, and many organizations choose to create their own frameworks unique to their organization. Today, thousands of companies are reporting on their ESG activities. However, the gathering, storing, sharing, tracking and reporting of ESG data is complex as it resides in many parts of the company, spread over many systems, and many organizations use manual methods of information gathering.

Empower your organization to automate reporting, drive change and demonstrate impact.
