Thursday, October 6, 2022
In-person and virtual: Paris Marriott Champs Elysees Hotel, France

DATA-DRIVEN DISCUSSIONS: OVERCOMING TODAY'S IR CHALLENGES

In a unique new format, the IR Magazine Forum – Europe takes exclusive IR Magazine data collected from thousands of responses from both heads of IR and investors and looks at solving some of the challenges our research reports have uncovered.

Join us in Paris this October to gain data-driven insights into the changing nature of investor relations in 2022 and beyond.

AGENDA

All times are in CET

8.30 am	Registration and networking
8.55 am	Welcome to the IR Magazine Forum – Europe
9.00 am	Opening keynote: Investor relations in uncertain times
	As part of our opening keynote, we look at the impact of a bull market on investor relations priorities and activities, to prove their value, and maximize opportunity in tough times.
	Understand the impact that the economic outlook will have on equities and IR officers
	 Learn how investor relations can demonstrate its value to management and shareholders
	 Discover how to build trust with shareholders and generate long-term relationships
	 Discuss how best to prioritize your efforts as an IRO, to navigate volatile markets
9.30 am	Delivering roadshow and corporate access success
	Economic trends and changes to how we work and communicate approaches have drastically transformed the roadshow space. In this session, we examine how these trends impact shareholder registers and advise on strategies to maximize quality engagement with investors.
	 Benchmark your roadshow activities against your peers Understand how IR can adapt to changing shareholder bases Refine your roadshow approach to reflect the effects of hybrid IR on domestic and international investor engagement

Thursday, October 6, 2022
In-person and virtual: Paris Marriott Champs Elysees Hotel, France

10.15 am	Morning refreshments and networking
10.45 am	ESG during a bear market
	The notion of ESG is increasingly scrutinized by a portion of the capital markets community. We debate whether the ESG backlash is a signal of maturity or if the change in perception is due to economic pressures.
	Join this session to explore sentiment around ESG in this environment, the impact of inflation and employment changes on human capital management, and changing expectations around various environmental, social, and governance factors.
	 Debate whether the perception of ESG changes in a downcycle Discuss which ESG issues are becoming increasingly material for investors and issuers Learn about changing expectations around Human Capital Management in a recessionary environment
11.30 am	Tech-talk: Enhancing your digital IR strategy
	Events from the past two years have increased the importance of a digital presence for investor relations. Opportunities for investor relations officers increase as technology advances, and this session helps you understand how investor relations teams are changing their approach to technology and IR websites.
	 Discover how investor expectations of IR websites are changing Stay updated on the latest technology trends impacting investor relations Learn about how companies are adapting their digital technical toolkit to achieve their goals better
12.00 pm	Next-level earnings calls
	In a volatile environment, concise, consistent, and comprehensible communications are a must, especially around the financial health of your business. In this session, we explore data related to the earnings call and understand how you can refine your practices to better communicate with the market.
	 Hear how investor and analyst preferences are changing with regards to earnings calls practices Learn how to magnify the reach for your quarterly financial messaging
	Discover how best to evaluate the impact of an earnings call

Thursday, October 6, 2022
In-person and virtual: Paris Marriott Champs Elysees Hotel, France

12.30 pm	Lunch
1.30 pm	Targeting and engagement in a downcycle
	This session investigates how companies and IR professionals can access capital in the current market and explores what the investment community expects from their meetings with companies in the current environment.
	 Discuss which meetings management and investors find most rewarding Discover how are targeting methods and criteria changing Find out how to adapt your approaches to reflect changes among capital market participants
	Learn how better to measure success in your targeting and engagement efforts
2.15 pm	Afternoon refreshments and networking
2.45 pm	Progressing your IR Career: Opportunities in today's environment
	Reflect on the changes to the labor market and understand to progress further in your investor relations career (and beyond.)
	 Discover the additional responsibilities IR officers are undertaking Hear about the regional and cap-size-related differences in IR career experiences
	 Learn how routes into the IR profession are changing Discuss the implications of these trends on running an IR team today
3.30 pm	Champagne roundtables
	Settle down with a drink and discuss today's topics with your fellow attendees in this interactive session.
	Share your thoughts, experiences, challenges, and feelings while hearing your peers' advice and perspective on the most critical topics facing IROs in this environment.
4.15 pm	Closing keynote: How investor relations practices are evolving
	The IR Magazine practices reports provide insight into IR budgets, team structures, and operations trends. In this opening keynote, we provide insight into how IR teams can adapt to the changing nature of the investor relations function.

Thursday, October 6, 2022
In-person and virtual: Paris Marriott Champs Elysees Hotel, France

	 Discover how to deploy IR budgets better Learn how IR can react to emerging capital market trends Understand how analyst coverage changes are impacting the IR role
4.30 pm	Summary and drinks reception